Quarra Stone
Names Kimberly Burgess Manager of Drafting and Project Management

Madison, WI—November 10, 2009 –John Rodell, the executive vice president of Madison, WI-based Quarra Stone, has announced the appointment of Kimberly Burgess as director of drafting and project manager at the company. Quarra, founded by James Durham in 1989, supplies and fabricates natural stone for signature architectural projects in North America.

Mr. Rodell described Ms. Burgess as an accomplished professional whose experience and training are uniquely suited to her new position:

"Kimberly Burgess is a critical addition to Quarra's highly regarded production team," observed Mr. Rodell. "Her technical expertise, international experience in the building and construction industry; as well as her demonstrated leadership and time management skills will be an enormous asset to Quarra and our global business associates. “

Ms. Burgess most recently served as the senior installation project manager for Tomotherapy, Inc. Prior to her position at Tomotherapy, Inc., Ms. Burgess held a post as the AutoCAD development & help desk technician for Marshall Erdman & Associates.

Ms. Burgess earned a Master’s Certificate in project management at the UW Madison School of Business. She also holds an Associates Degree in applied science (architectural) from the Madison Area Technical College. Ms. Burgess is a member of the Project Management Institute (PMP) and is a certified project manager (PMI).

An active community volunteer, Ms. Burgess tutors English as a second language and works with the Habitat for Humanity. If she can steal some spare time, you might find Ms. Burgess working on a variety of craft projects including crocheting, knitting or hand quilting. Ms. Burgess shares a historic home with her husband Rex and her son Connor in the heart of downtown Monroe, WI.
